Methodists to Break Ground for Building On Sunday Afternoon

Service at 3 p. m. to Precede Quarterly Conference And Election

In history will be a memorable date in the history of the Antioch Methodist church. Months of planning and anticipation will be climaxed by ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Church School addition which will take place shortly after 3 p. m.

The ground-breaking will be preceded by a short congregational meeting for all members over 21 years of age in the sanctuary of the church at which time authority will be given to the board of trustees to borrow the necessary money for the project. Dr. Weldon Bradburn, District Superintendent of the Methodist Church will be present for the ground-breaking ceremonies and the quarterly conference and election of officers to follow.

The new educational unit will cost approximately $43,000 and will consist of a 50 by 60 foot addition of two floors which will eventually contain classrooms, nursery facilities and a large assembly hall with a stage. The project will also include an entire new heating plant for both the new addition and the present church. The present basement will be converted into classrooms and assembly space and will also contain the new heating system.

Trustees are at work this week on final phases connected with securing adequate funds for the project. Members of the building committee hope that contracts will be signed next week and that excavation will get underway immediately. Visitors and friends are cordially invited to the ground-breaking ceremonies.

Fine weather made the events successful.

'Twas Moving Day, But No Move Made by P. M.

While yesterday was scheduled as moving day for the Antioch post office, it never took place.

Lack of final instructions was said to have caused the postmaster, Roy Kufalk, to remain until today at least at the old Main st. location. The lease there expires today.

The new room on Lake St., was ready for occupancy yesterday as promised by the owner.

Someone suggested that the delay in Kufalk's orders may have been due to poor mail service.

Baird Announces Three-Point Program As Judicial Candidate

Attorney Jack Baird, Waukegan, candidate for judge of the 17th Judicial Circuit in the June 4 judicial election has summed up his campaign for one of four positions in a three point program.

Foremost among Baird's appeals is the question of qualification for the post. In this, he has the support of political and civic leaders throughout the county who have urged support for him regardless of political affiliation because they are familiar with his ability, integrity and general judicial qualification.

A practicing lawyer for 25 years and at the present time vice-president of the Lake County Bar Association, Baird has had wide experience in trial work and in appeals, having engaged in many cases involving constitutional questions, the public interest and welfare.

The second point in his appeal is directed primarily to the voters in Lake county since it is the most populous county in the district and therefore has the heaviest legal load.

Baird has pointed out that the campaign of the Lake County Bar Association to secure a split of the 17th Judicial Circuit early this year (Continued on page 5)

Mrs. Church Heads Oust Acheson Group

Hon. Marguerite Stitt Church, Republican, 13th District, Illinois, as one of the six members constituting the Government Policy Committee of the 82nd Congress Group, this week successfully sponsored a resolution signed by 43 new Republican Members of Congress for the removal of Secretary Acheson. The resolution, proposed by Mrs. Church at a recent meeting of the group, was approved by the leadership and Policy Committee of the House of Representatives and is next to be submitted to the entire Republican Conference.

Mrs. Church says: "This resolution marks the determination of new Republican Members of Congress to implement the national demand for a change in our foreign policy and a change in the leadership that has made that policy. It is appalling for the American people to realize that their present and future safety is still under the command of those whose blind leadership brought us unremittably to our current danger. The resolution for the removal of Mr. Acheson—first suggested by me to this group of Freshmen Congressmen ten days ago as something that we might ourselves attempt—is offered as one concrete way of expressing not only the lack of confidence in the Truman leadership; but even more our just protest against the futile policy of permitting the slaughter of American boys in the Secretary's 'war of attrition,' a war in which his only hope for victory lies in placidly waiting for the enemy, which has historically no regard for human life, to call 'quits.' We trust that this will prove a first step in a return to American sanity and safety."

This is the second meeting of the High School club recently formed here. Mrs. Ralph Bersberger, president, presided, and refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Blocks and committee.

Ray and Elizabeth Webb, who have spent the winter in Arizona will be leaving for Antioch around the 1st of June.

June Is Busting Out All Over

Attendance at Opening Of Antioch Lumber Co. Larger Than Expected

An estimated 2,300 persons visited the Antioch Lumber and Coal Co. last Friday and Saturday at the grand opening of the 34-year old firm's new office at Depot st. and Corona ave.

The attendance was so much larger than expected that the proprietors ran out of gifts.

Potted plants and salad spoons and forks and refrigerator bags for the women, balloons and candy for the children, bottle openers for the men, and other gifts were presented as long as they lasted.

The inner office of President Edmund Vos, with the outer offices of Roman Vos, manager, and Irving Walsh and the counters about the store were laden with the more than 40 bouquets sent by well wishers. The place became a veritable flower garden.

The hundreds of guests from Antioch and immediate vicinity there were visitors from Chicago, Waukegan, Libertyville, Kenosha, Wis., Burlington, Wis., and Rockford, Ill.

Commencement, Memory Never Forgotten, Says Dean Ganster, Waukegan

The Rev. Howard Ganster, retired Episcopal rector of Waukegan, who himself is in the glowing sunset of life, told Antioch eighth grade graduates Friday evening to enjoy to the utmost their life's sunrise marked by such events as their commencement.

The elderly minister kept the large crowd in laughter with his homespun humor.

The grade school band furnished music; the Rev. G. Richard Tuttle gave the invocation and the benediction; and Mrs. Nellie Auxiliary, chairman of the V. F. W. Auxiliaries, presented the flags.

Emil R. Lubkeman, president of the board of education, gave the welcome address, which was followed by introductions by Principal Richard Whitacre, who later presented the class.

W. C. Petty, county superintendent of schools, gave out the diplomas.

Besides the 34 graduates of the Antioch school, 10 graduates from the Channel Lake, Emmons, and West Newport schools received diplomas at this service.

The Antioch eighth graders and their parents enjoyed a fine banquet Tuesday, May 22 at the Methodist church. James McMillen, Jr., was toastmaster. The group retired to the school afterwards for dancing.

Antioch High Loses To Northbrook 6-5; Bensenville Won 3-0

Antioch High lost what is probably its last game of the regular baseball season to Northbrook here Wednesday forenoon 6 to 5.

The Scottmen got off to an early start and without a single hit got two runs in the first inning. Neither team scored in the second but both teams got two runs in the third. Thereafter the Northbrook pitcher Anholt steadied and held the Sequoits to one run while his teammates scored two in the sixth and two in the seventh to take the lead.

Antioch had the bases loaded and none down in the seventh, the final inning but was unable to score.

While there is some talk of a game tomorrow with Grant High, both teams are ready to quit until the summer league starts on June 9.

After trouncing Palatine here last Thursday 17 to 7, Antioch High baseball team became a 3 to 0 victim to Bensenville here Tuesday.

The Palatine game was a batting spree for the Sequoits. They made 14 hits off the Palatine pitchers, while the visitors were held to five. Antioch had three errors and Palatine four. Many of the hits went for extra bases.

In a pitcher's duel Karrigan came out to shade the better over Antioch's Pregenzer in the Bensenville game yesterday. Slow fielding combined with a timely hit gave the visitors three runs in the fifth inning to claim the game. The summary was Bensenville 3 runs, 4 hits, 1 error; Antioch no runs, 3 hits, and 3 errors.

Confirmation Service And Installation Draws Crowd to St. Ignatius'

Bishop Conkling Administers Sacrament, Former Priest Speaks

The Rt. Rev. Wallace E. Conkling, bishop of the diocese of Chicago, administered the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation to thirteen persons and instituted the Rev. Roberts Ehr-gott as first Priest and Rector of the Church of St. Ignatius of Antioch on Corpus Christi day, May 24, at 8 p. m.

Hertofore the Church of St. Ignatius had been a mission, receiving aid from the diocese; now the new parish church is in a position not only to remain independent, but to increase its contribution to the life of the church at large.

The service at St. Ignatius' began with an outdoor procession, with crucifer and taper bearers, girls choir, acolytes, visiting clergy, the Bishop's Chaplain, and the Bishop. The preacher for the evening was the Rev. Edward S. White, professor of pastoral theology at Nashotah House, Nashotah, Wis., who is the "founding father" of the parish. When Rector of St. Lawrence Church, Libertyville, he established the work at Antioch in 1915, and was its first priest in charge. Father White preached in the subject of "The Altar," pointing out that the Holy Table is the focal point in the church building, symbolizing and being used for the Holy Sacrifice of the Eucharist. He demonstrated that altars are traditionally erected independent of the church itself, being installed before churches are actually erected, for as he said, "a church is a building to shelter the Altar."

The small church was filled to capacity with worshippers, and following Corpus Christi devotions to the Blessed Sacrament, the Bishop blessed his people as he recessed. At the close of the Services, a reception was held in the parish hall for the Bishop and visiting clergy, with the ladies of the auxiliary serving under the direction of Mrs. Maurice Radke, president. Fr. White was presented a new translation of the Bible, and each of the confirmands received a prayer book. The bishop was presented a bouquet of flowers by one of the little girls who was confirmed.

First Communion for the class took place at the 8 and 9:30 a. m. Eucharists; these were: Etta Dalziel, Jill and Jolene Gaston, Edward Heath, Philip Case, William Lewis. (Continued on page 5)

10 Hurt, One Dies In Two Accidents Over Week-end in This Area

Three persons were injured critically and four others hospitalized in a two-car collision Saturday morning at the intersection of Rtes. 173 and 45, Hickory Corners.

Critically injured were Mrs. Martha Barthel, Salem, Wis., who died Wednesday, Harold T. Andrews 18, Camp Lake Wis., and Ruth Barthel, 18, of 1201 W. Michigan ave., Milwaukee.

Less severely hurt were Paul, 56, and Josephine Schumann, 440 Fremont Pl., Milwaukee, and Michael, 54, and Anna Klaus, 49, of 2223 S. 173th Ave., Milwaukee.

Schumann told deputy sheriffs Clayton Tiffany and Thomas Cusker, he was driving south on highway 45, slowed down for the stop sign, and then continued on after shifting to second gear.

The car containing the Schumanns and the Klausens struck the east-bound car, a two-door sedan, containing the Barthels and Andrews, it was said.

The Antioch Rescue squad took the critically injured to St. Theresa hospital.

The squad also took to the same hospital Sunday afternoon Bruno H. Szweczyk, 58, of 1330 Glen Rock ave., Waukegan, whose car left Grand ave., near Lake Villa and struck a tree. A wet pavement was said to have caused Szweczyk's car to skid and hit the tree 12 feet from the pavement.

The car door flew open and the driver was hurled against another tree eight feet away. He was treated for a severe head cut, chest injuries and shock.

Economic Highlights

David Lawrence recently described the varying points of view regarding international, military and diplomatic policy in this fashion:

"England says: 'Appease in Asia and save Europe.'"

"MacArthur says: 'Appease in Asia and you lose Europe.'"

"Truman says, in effect: 'Don't appease but also don't fight with all your might—the enemy might get mad.'"

"The average America will say: 'Appease anywhere, show weakness to a bandit or a bully, and you're lost. To keep on saying you're afraid to go into a big fight will only invite attack from the other fellow.'"

In the radio speech made to explain the policy reasons for the dismissal of General MacArthur, the President said that the Administration's purpose was to keep the war from spreading, to confine it to Korea. He clearly implied his belief that the MacArthur plan—with its bombing of Red China's bases, its blockade of the China coast, and the use of Chinese Nationalist forces in the fight—might bring the Soviet Union into active participation and set the world afire.

This is the doctrine of limited war. Yet, to many, it becomes increasingly difficult to regard the Korean affair as a small-time "police action". Our casualties are well past the 60,000 point. Russia is supplying the Chinese with increasing numbers of jet aircraft. The best intelligence indicates that Russian officers are serving as top-level staff advisers to Mao's forces. The cost to us of carrying on the war runs into many billions.

Moreover, it has been pointed out in many circles that Mr. Truman's Korean policy gives the Russians the initiative. He as much as said this himself in his radio talk. It is up to the Kremlin to decide whether the war shall be extended. We are just holding our ground as best we can while waiting for the enemy to make the major decisions.

Congress, as a whole, has dodged taking a forthright stand on these issues. As Holmes Alexander put it, "Congressmen will vote for war measures, but they shy away from voting a quit-kidding declaration of fact." Senator Cain of Washington has attempted to force the Senate to make its position clear through his simultaneous introduction of two resolutions. One is for a declaration of war on Red China. The other is for the evacuation of all our forces from Korea. In sum, he wants the Senate to do something definite, one way or the other. But it is believed that there is small chance of these resolutions reaching the floor. Congress will keep on doing a great deal of talking, but very little positive acting.

Hopes still remain that Red China will, before too long, agree to a cease-fire and a peace of some sort. But, failing this, what will we do? Will we go on fighting indefinitely in Korea, taking our losses, in a campaign which we cannot possibly win under present policies? That all-important question has not been answered.

Grass Roots Opinion

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Bulletin-Sentinel: "Jefferson looked with apprehension on the laws of Virginia which supported the Anglican Church of England. He opposed the laws which provided for public taxation for the support of the established church. Jefferson provided his answer to this question by writing in 1776 a statute to change these laws. . . . The bill finally was enacted January 16, 1786. Americans today owe a great debt to Thomas Jefferson for his brave and courteous fight for this principle which he thought was right and just—the principle we take for granted—the principle that in matters of religion every man shall have the freedom to worship his God as he desires without dictation from the government."

SOMERSET, KY., Journal: "One of the most precious things about this country is every man's right to express his own personal opinion on any subject without fear of punishment or retribution. We must stand united in our opposition to anything that would deprive us of this privilege."

OLYMPIA, WN., Daily Olympian: "Mr. Jefferson was a strong supporter of republican gov't. He championed the sovereignty of the people. He believed was a strong supporter of republican government. He championed the sovereignty of the people. He believed in freedom of thought and speech. He preached economy in government, and small public debt. He stood for a policy of peace, strict construction of the Constitution and sovereignty of the states, metallic money, as a standard; a judiciary beyond the control of the legislative and executive branches of the government, rotation in office, elimination of monopolies."

MORRIS, MINN., Sun: "Political and economic theories often sound practical and enticing until we reduce them to a level where people live and work."

British Collector Claims New-Found Shakespeare Notes

LONDON, England — A British collector may have discovered one of the most valuable books in the world.

Allen Keen claims to have found in a family library a book containing copious notes by William Shakespeare. He also claims to have found the book 11 years ago and to have devoted the last 10 years to research which proved the authorship of the notes.

If true, the discovery will fill in the "hidden seven years" of the playwright's life.

Almost no specimens of the handwriting of Shakespeare survive, and for this reason, the authorship of all his plays have been questioned. Another is the lack of a formal education on Shakespeare's part.

Keen contends that during part of the "hidden years" the playwright was "a singing boy" in noble Catholic families and in their cultured homes picked up valuable education.

The collector said that for the present time that he was not putting a price on the book, but trade circles believe it to value near $504,000.

"Some mention $1,000,000," Keen said, squatting among his piles of old manuscripts. "I received offers from almost everywhere for it even before we were certain what it was. It's a fabulous story and a fabulous find."

Keen purchased an old library in Shropshire in 1950. In it was a book, published in 1540 — "The Union of The Two Noble Houses, York and Lancaster." Somebody had crammed writings closely into the margins and virtually every other bit of white space.

The book, Keen says, is known to be the source for three of Shakespeare's plays: Richard II, Henry IV, and Henry V. In the margins opposite the accounts of these monarchs, Keen found rough drafts of dialogue he said he knew was in these plays.

So, Now It Can Be Called More or Less Official

CANONSBURG, Pa. — The women in this western-Pennsylvania town are going to get a chance to do what some of the men say they have been doing for quite some time—that is, run the town.

Members of the Women of Moose organization will fill all posts in the Town Government for one day to spur interest in civic affairs.

Regular officials, however, such as the burgess and the chief of police, will remain close at hand—just in case something unusual arises and they might be needed.

Republicans, Please, Not Ones to Take Advantage

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Republican senators in the Rhode Island state senate recently had an opportunity to prove the stuff of which they were made.

A baby broke the 22-22 Democratic-Republican tie when the legislature was straining hard for an adjournment and with many important measures pending.

Sen. Florence K. Murray, Democrat, Newport, rose to inform her colleagues that she was going to the "Lying-In (hospital)."

The next morning she gave birth to a fine baby boy—but the Democrats had lost the deciding vote by her absence.

While researchers were thumbing the record books to decide the proper procedure, William J. Thompson, chairman of the Republican central committee, said: "No Republican gentleman would take advantage of this situation."

Choosing Mayor by Chance Ruled Out by Citizens

GROTON, N. Y.—Gambling-conscious residents of this Tompkins county village balked at choosing a mayor "by lot" as provided in the village law in case of a tie vote.

Instead, they forwarded a petition to Governor Dewey asking him to call a special election. It read:

"A decision by lot, or chance or hazard is not compatible with the wishes of the voters or with New York State laws which expressly forbid gambling."

George Brooks, short story writer and incumbent mayor, and Bruce Mack, a member of the Groton School Board, each received 185 votes in the mayoral election. Brooks is a Democrat, Mack a Republican.

Motorist Has Consolation After Double Snow Trouble

OCONTO, Wis. — Double-trouble caught up with Llewellyn Waldo of Carney, Michigan, near here in a snowstorm.

Driving along on highway 41 north of Oconto, Carney's vehicle crashed into another car.

The left side of Waldo's car was smashed, so he turned around and headed back to Oconto for repairs.

About half way to town he collided with another car and smashed the right side.

The car was a total loss, but Carney, a lucky man, received not a single scratch.

Rural Living

Editor Tells of Its Beauty

NEWARK VALLEY, N.Y.—The beauty of living in a small town was expressed recently by Lloyd C. Allen, editor of the Tioga County Herald published in this village (population 900).

Allen was asked by a friend, "How can you live in a town this size, especially without a car?"

Allen commented in his column: "It's true that a community of this size holds little promise of either fame or fortune. There are no night clubs and no shows and only weekly movies. We have few of the city's advantages . . . But in what metropolitan center could a guy run a linotype and by a turn of his head watch cattle grazing or note the warbler migration or pause to watch a nuthatch? . . . Along what other Main Street can you dawdle on a bridge and watch the brook trout dart or jump? And all for free?"

Plain Citizen Tours England; Likes His Home Town Better

VANDALIA, Mo. — Back in the winter the town of Vandalia, Mo., decided it would be a good idea to have a first-hand account of what Great Britain is like today. So the small town's population of 2,600 persons got together and forked out $1,308 to send Abraham Lincoln Kilby, a 58-year-old rural mail carrier to England and report back.

Kilby returned to make his report recently. And as far as he is concerned you can't beat the British for hospitality. But as for their Socialist government, gave him the American competitive system.

When the mailman left Missouri he got a modest sendoff. In Britain, however, he created a furor. He was received as an ambassador and spent seven weeks tramping the streets of London and provincial towns gathering his facts.

He told the home folks: "The social gains that have been made in Britain are good to a certain extent. But the economic policies, if continued long enough, will lead to utter economic collapse because incentive and private initiative will have been destroyed."

"The morals of their government seem to be higher than ours. At least I didn't hear anything about fur coats, home freezers and the like changing hands on No. 10 Downing St. while I was there."

He said that this country didn't need the British socialized medicine setup, nor its national insurance plan. The insurance plan includes old age pension, maternity benefits and subsidies to mothers.

On one thing he was insistent, the British meat ration was the worst piece of "bungling" he observed.

"The officials kept dickered around over the price rise of a few dollars on the ton until the nation was just about completely out of meat."

Married Girls Barred From Attending School

MOUNT MORRIS, Mich. — The 2,500 population of Mount Morris was in an uproar recently over the question of whether married girls, a pregnant one in particular, could attend high school.

Among other things, the controversy prompted a strike of 60 seniors at the high school and caused a mass meeting of students, parents, and school authorities.

As a result of the mass meeting, E. L. Clark, school superintendent, relented on a ban on married girls' attending classes and had invited four to return if they brought certificates from physicians that they were not pregnant.

A controversy between Clark and some parents had been running for weeks. When a majority of the high school's 88 seniors joined in a traditional "skip day," going on a picnic instead of to school, verbal fireworks broke out.

Seniors who didn't play hockey met and chose a student council, barring other seniors because they hadn't brought their excuses for being absent.

That caused an uproar from the majority, particularly when it was announced that those who observed skip day would be barred from the annual senior class tour of Washington, D.C.

The following day a ban against married girl students came from Clark. He gave as his reason for not allowing married girls to classes, "It causes so much talk among the younger girls and it is not good."

Women Win All Contests In Village Election

MENDON, Mich.—The women of Mendon won the village election recently, sweeping the entire board. It wasn't even close for any office. There will be one lonesome male officeholder. He is city clerk Vern McClish, who was not opposed for re-election.

Mrs. Helen Hickmott, former Kalamazoo college teacher, was elected village president. She won over Marvin Dalman, incumbent, 77 to 43.

The women campaigned on a general platform that they could do a better job of running the village government than men. One result was a rousing vote turnout—a total of 120. The community has a population of 750.

Noah Was First Of Many Trying To Foretell Doom

History pages are full of self-styled prophets who have attempted to foretell the day of doom. Ever since Noah forecast one end of the world, as told in the book of Genesis, each generation has produced prophets who dated the day of reckoning. Some of them made the news, many of them didn't.

The latest on record is a little overdue—named for the day of January 9, 1951. Mrs. Grace Carlson, gray-haired leader of the "Children of Light" in British Columbia proclaimed it.

Awalt Millennium Mrs. Carlson and group of devoted followers spent 16 days in a tiny cottage awaiting the millennium and praying, while Mrs. Carlson read from the bible. When the day had passed uneventfully, the group returned to their homes with the announcement that they would "await a new message from God."

Bohemian Prophets Bohemian prophets foretold that the end of the world would come during the Hussite wars in the 15th century. Five cities were singled out as favored places because, according to the foretellers, they were to be spared. The movement, however, faded out after the religious furor of the wars quieted down.

In early America, the Plymouth Brethren never set an actual date for the close of the universe, but they anticipated it. A historian writes that the First Brethren considered it utterly fantastic that the church would still be on earth three quarters of a century later.

Prediction Panic Americans lived in constant dread of the world through the year 1843. William Miller, an earnest and devout preacher, predicted that the end would come sometime between Mar. 21, 1843, and Mar. 21, 1844.

Thousands took the Miller prediction to be true, sold their homes for rock bottom prices, and fearfully awaited doomsday. When the last day of March, 1844, passed quietly on into history, Miller sorrowfully confessed his error, although maintaining that the day of the Lord was still very near at hand.

Deep Speculator Epp, once leader of all the Mennonites in Russia, was a man who devoted much time to speculating about the end of the world. One day, in 1881, Epp noticed that the hands of his old wall clock had stopped with the hands pointing to eight and nine. He announced that the cataclysm would arrive in 1889.

The fatal day came and went, and the world went on as before. Epp returned to his meditation and finally concluded that the clock on the wall leaned slightly to one side. He straightened it and became elated when the hands pointed to nine and one. So he changed to 1891. Again, the date arrived—and passed.

Montanists Prepared As early as the second century the end of the world was expected. One sect of that period, the Montanists, made preparation for the fateful day the entire purpose of their lives.

They went through extensive fasts, adhered to chastity, and even encouraged martyrdom. They branded all suspected sinners and excluded them from the churches so the edifices would remain pure.

Dukhobors Waited In 1902, about 1,600 Dukhobors, a Russian sect that had settled in Canada, prepared for the coming of the end of the world by stripping off their clothes and gathering in a tiny village—planning to remain until the catastrophic day. Authorities rounded them up and sent them home.

Many in the recent decades have ventured to name the day of reckoning, but, so far, a true prophet has not yet arrived. He may not come. Perhaps, He who made the universe may destroy it, in His own time and in His own way.

You May One Day Obtain Live Teeth for Dead Ones

NEW YORK, N. Y. — You may soon be able to get live teeth to replace your decayed molars. First steps toward a live tooth bank have been taken by Columbia University's college of physicians and surgeons.

Under the arrangement, you would go to the bank and replace a decayed or painful molar with a live tooth.

Not yet in sight, the miracle has been in process for 11 years. Cats have been the principal subjects and teeth have been successfully transferred from one kitten to another, or from one kitten's jaw to that of another.

The only catch from the human point of view is that most of the teeth are taken in the bud stage, when they are about a quarter of an inch long.

Thus, according to the present level of scientific information, you could get that new tooth only from a baby, taking a tooth before it erupted in the baby's jaw.

The important scientific discovery is that the new teeth acquire nerve connections and blood supplies from their new surroundings.

Marketing Pigs Farmers are finding it pays to send in a ton of pork to market in 10 pigskins instead of eight. In other words, 200-pound pigs usually fit current market demands better than 250-pounders.

Five Chicago Youths Jailed

Five Chicago youths spent five hours in the village jail sobering up Wednesday after they got in a drunken fight among themselves on E. Ida ave., about 10 a. m.

The boys, one 16 years old, and the other four 17 years of age, left the northwest side of Chicago about 4:30 a. m. in a Buick convertible and said they stopped on Milwaukee ave., south of Wheeling in buying a case of beer.

They had consumed about half of it when picked up by Police Chief Scott at the request of a Main St. resident who said the boys were drunk and using foul language.

After hours of confinement they repented their bad conduct and were released, but to insure they got back home safely their remaining supply of liquor was confiscated.

Monkey Village . . .

discovered that in caring for these monkeys that they must be handled just as you would handle an infant child. They must be fed on a strict schedule the same time each day and meals must be properly prepared, consisting mainly of dried bread chopped and soaked in milk and bananas sliced into small pieces. These monkeys also had to be inoculated for diseases as one would an infant child, for small pox, diphtheria, or any other common diseases.

The Rhesus monkey is found to be more comfortable and playful and seem more healthy when living in a temperature of 64 degrees or higher. For this reason a specially constructed all modern cage has been erected with all the latest innovations for their comfort and convenience. Various types of amusing play things have been installed in the cage that will certainly keep young and old amused for hours. Installed also in the cage is the very latest in fluorescent lighting.

The cage is constructed in two sections, the largest part of the cage being solely for the purpose of giving the monkeys complete freedom in order to amuse the general public. The second section of the cage is used to keep the monkeys housed in an enclosure during the night, to keep them out of the cold, the damp air, and the rain. The cage is screened in on three sides with the smaller section equipped with portable panels in order to board up for their warmth throughout the late evening.

The Keno Family Drive-In Theatre is the first theatre in the middle west to have a display such as this. Mr. Peek wishes to announce that the grand opening of the "Monkey Village" will take place tomorrow night, Friday, June 1, and will be on display each and every night of the week throughout the drive-in theatre season. There is no charge of any kind. It is absolutely free as are all the other children's amusements at the Keno. The "Monkey Village" may be visited from the time the box office opens until show time and during the intermission time since the cages are adequately lighted.

TO THE VOTERS OF ANTIOCH TOWNSHIP:

Lake County requires two circuit judges to dispose of the lawsuits without delay. We can have two if the voters will split their tickets.

I have known Jack Bairstow, of Waukegan, for more than 30 years. From my long acquaintance with him I know he has the legal ability and temperament to be a good circuit judge. I, therefore, urge the voters, regardless of their party affiliation, to give 1 of their 4 votes to Jack Bairstow for Judge of the Circuit Court.

Mrs. Henning Johnson, Wife of Resort Owner, Dies, Burial Is Today

Services were held this afternoon at the Peterson chapel in Waukegan for Mrs. Ellen Johnson, 61, of Deep lake, near Lake Villa, who died Sunday afternoon at St. Therese hospital, Waukegan.

Mrs. Johnson became seriously ill while in Florida and was brought home for an operation, which came too late in the course of her sickness.

Surviving besides the husband are four brothers, Jacob Gustafson, Twin Lakes, Wis., Eric Gustafson, Zion; David and Peter Gustafson, Chicago, and sister, Mrs. Frieda Blank, Crokey, Ind.

Burial was in Acacia Park cemetery, Chicago.

Nine adults and one young person were received into the membership of the Antioch Methodist Church on Sunday morning. Those joining the church include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Voeburg, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sauter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lasco, Miss Charlotte Beelow, and Walter Johnson, Wayne Polsgrove and Lee Ross. The group were greeted at the front of the church by members and friends following their reception into membership.

Bairstow Announces.....

was a non-political action in which both Democrats and Republicans cooperated because they realized the importance of securing a second judge for Lake County.

According to Bairstow the need for a second judge in Lake county has not decreased because the legislature saw fit to add a fourth judge to the district. He maintains that the action was designed to aid Lake county where the volume of legal business requires two circuit judges.

The third point in the program centers on the importance of separating politics from judicial elections.

The State Constitution fixes the date of the judicial elections to keep the election free from the influence of national and state issues. It is intended that the basis of elections be qualifications of the candidates rather than foreign policies, national domestic policy or purely political considerations.

In his appeal for support he has offered no argument regarding the qualifications of the incumbent judges or the qualifications of his Lake county opponent, but has asked for support on the basis of his qualifications, the obvious need of Lake county, and the importance of avoiding purely partisan political consideration in voting June 4.

A History of the Church

Before the establishment of St. Ignatius' Mission Church in 1915, there had been no parish in this area for many years. From 1871 to 1900, St. Mary's Church, Spring Grove, and another mission church at Wilmet, at about the same time, were in existence; descendants of the members of these Missions are now members of St. Ignatius' parish.

The church of St. Ignatius was erected in 1893 as a denominational place; the timbers of the building were hewn by men whose descendants are members of the present congregation. The village of Antioch being named for these early Campbelite settlers ("the disciples" in 1915, should be called the Church of St. Ignatius of Antioch. St. Ignatius was third bishop of Antioch in Asia Minor, and wrote letters or epistles about 110 A. D. en route to his martyrdom in Rome. These letters are still preserved, and their teaching on the Ministry of the primitive church is reflected in the polity of the Anglican church.

The first confirmation class at St. Ignatius was presented on June 25, 1918 by the Rev. Edward S. White, then Rector of St. Lawrence's church, Libertyville, founder and first priest in charge of St. Ignatius'. These confirmands were: Ida Osmond, Carolyn Osmond, Susan R. Webb, Eva M. Kaye, Mary L. Smart, Marie A. Smart (Mrs. J. B. Fields), Pauline C. Smart (Mrs. Howard Smith), Emma S. Simons, Thomas E. Somerville, Jane E. Sibley, Jennie M. Sibley (Mrs. Fredrick Hawkins, Sr.), all of whom are members of the parish. The following are deceased members of the first class: William Osmond, Christian R. Kelly, Robert S. Kelly, Chas. E. Kelly. May their souls rest in peace.

The first infant baptized in St. Ignatius' Church was William Edward Brook, now a vestryman. The first service was held on July 11, 1915, and from 1915 the Rev. R. Everett Carr served the Mission while in Seminary. On October 22, 1915 the St. Ignatius' Woman's Guild was organized, with Mrs. William Osmond as President, Mrs. E. Elmer Brook, Vice President, and Mrs. Chase Webb, Secretary-Treasurer. In 1924 the parish house was given by the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, and moved here. At about the same time, the rectory was purchased and the church was restored and remodeled.

Many of the parishioners are from the Mother Church of England, and while this national origin has changed, the parish is notable for the stability of its congregation; most of the parishioners were born in Antioch Township or nearby, and most have parents and grandparents who were born here. The attainment of parish status, with the services of a full-time priest and rector will give more continuity and stability to the work of the parish, so that the extension of the Church Catholic may go forward with greater zeal and strength.

Desire to Live Saves Traveler Buried in Slide

DENVER, Colo. — Robert F. Ray, a 37 year old Grand Junction, Colo., lumberman enjoys the questionable distinction of having been buried beneath tons of snow, trees and rocks in subzero weather—and living to tell about it.

Ray was driving along United States highway 6 west of Denver late one night when a huge tumbling mass hurled his car over a 40 foot cliff and buried it under eight feet of snow, timbers and boulders. Knocked unconscious by the impact, he also suffered five broken ribs, a fractured shoulder blade, and multiple cuts and bruises.

Everything Black
Exactly how long he was trapped in the crushed automobile he doesn't know for sure. When he first regained his senses, "I thought I was in bed—just waking up. Everything was black."

Feeling around in the wrecked interior of the 1947 sedan, Ray discovered that he was wedged under the steering wheel. His first thought was "how I was going to kill myself so that I wouldn't suffer. I didn't have a gun or a knife."

Urge to Live
But that thought soon gave way, he explained, to an overpowering urge to live that gave him superhuman strength.

He jerked himself free of the smashed steering wheel and wrecked front seat and started kicking the remaining glass out of the broken windshield.

There was hardly enough room to crawl out, but he clawed at the snow with his bare hands, pulling it back into the car while edging himself through the windshield opening.

In a few moments, Ray's groping hand caught on a ring ornament on the radiator.

Beneath Car
"When that happened," he related, "I realized that the car was upside down and that I was underneath it. If I had kept digging the way I started, I would have dug my own grave."

Ray inched his way from under the car and continued tunneling upward at a feverish pace. His hands were bleeding freely from cuts and he was unaware of that, or any pain.

After what seemed like eternities, his hands broke free of snow, and, "I just thanked God."

Realized Weakness
But he was still a long way from safety. The debris of the slide had obliterated the highway and all markers. He suddenly became aware of his injuries, and the loss of blood from the cuts on his hands, legs and head made him weak.

He stumbled over the snow mass and by chance came upon a highway shelter house a quarter mile from the scene of the slide. No one was in sight, but a highway truck was parked outside the building.

Ray estimates that it was now about 3:30 a.m.—two or three hours after the accident.

Uses Elbows
The temperature of 15 degrees below zero had left his hands and fingers numb and useless. He managed to open the door of the truck cab and flip on the ignition by the use of his elbows. He used his teeth to pull out the headlight switch.

Pat Murray, operator of a state highway snowplow saw the lights and went to investigate.

The highway workman took Ray into the shelter house and then cleared a path through the slide to drive the injured man to medical help at Georgetown, 20 miles away.

The wrecked car was recovered from the snow weeks later.

Marine Takes the Dares; Wears His Dress Outfit

KOREA—First Division Marines, resting along a dusty Korean road found themselves open-mouthed in amazement as an automatic rifleman strolled through their midst clad in dress blues—the traditional Sunday garb of the Corps.

Marine Pfc. Norman L. Hoeker, 22 St. Joseph, Missouri, explained: "While I was in California I asked my mother to send me my dress blues. Before they arrived I was on my way to Korea. I received the package only the other day and, thinking it a Christmas package delayed in mailing, I opened it to share it with my buddies. They dared me to wear the suit and I did. I only hope the colonel didn't see me."

Vitamin B2 Said Killer Of Cancer-Causing Agent

BOSTON, Mass. — The discovery that large dosages of Vitamin B2 sometimes can destroy certain cancer-causing agents in animals was reported by the American Chemical Society.

The announcement was based on a report by two Rutgers University scientists, Dr. James B. Allison and his assistant, Arthur W. Wase. Their experiments have been conducted on rats and were begun to determine how the toxicity, or poison, of carcinogens (cancer-causing agents) can be eliminated.

Special Levy to Finance Auriol's American Visit

PARIS—The average Frenchman will contribute about one franc (one-fourth of a cent) to finance President Vincent Auriol's 10-day visit to the United States.

The President drafted a decree to this effect aboard the liner Ile de France before he started his trip to America. It has since been approved by the National Assembly and the upper house.

The Government granted 38,000,000 francs ($107,000) to cover expenses for the famous trip and also allocated another 4,330,000 francs for broadcasting and televising the trip.

Flag Flies Continuously At Keysville Terra Rubra

WASHINGTON — The American flag was found to be jammed at top of its staff in front of the farm at Terra Rubra, near Keysville, Md., but the owner, Roy E. Baumgardner, made no attempt to haul Old Glory down. It is not necessary for Baumgardner to conform to the custom of raising and lowering the colors at sunset.

Terra Rubra farm is the birthplace of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner," and is so one of the five places where the Stars and Stripes may wave, day and night, year in and year out.

The present flagstaff was erected at the farm in 1948. Two banners have been previously worn out by continual service.

Other locations where the flag may be flown round the clock are the Capitol Building; the war memorial at Worcester, Mass.; Fort Meunier, Md., where the sight of the flag inspired the national anthem in 1813, and the author's grave at Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Frederick, Md.

Half-a-Century Barber Says Males Are too Vain

WINNIPEG, Canada — Russ Lavers, 68, has been cutting hair for half a century and estimates that he has served 324,000 customers for haircuts during his career as a barber.

Lavers believes that customers are a lot fussier now than they used to be and "the men are just as bad as the women—some of them are even worse."

The old-fashioned barber cringes at the sight of young men coming in with requests for permanent waves and lots of them "have their own fingerwaves."

Women are expected to be vain, but men, when they start it, that's too much for any barber.

Air Force Promises Plane Capable of Greater MPH

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The air force expects to put into the air sometime this year a new super-sonic rocket plane which will fly faster and higher than any man has ridden aircraft in existence.

The X-2, like the X-1 which exceeded the speed of sound (761 miles per hour at sea level) is experimental, and so small as to carry only a pilot and the needed instruments.

Aeronautical experts believe that the X-2, when completed, and fully developed, may fly 2,500 miles an hour at an altitude of 200,000 feet. It is being built by Bell Aircraft Corporation.

SHORT STORY

Third Richest Girl

By Richard H. Wilkinson

IF IT had happened back in Westchester or most anywhere in the world except here on the edge of a high mesa at the rim of Death Valley it would have made the front pages of every newspaper in the country. The reading public would have been delighted.

This was explainable, for Joan Roberts was the third richest girl in the United States, and what ever happened to her was news. If the reporters had been on hand that day she had her face slapped, the telegraph wires would have hummed. If they had known that the man who slapped her face was a cowboy, editorial offices would have been thrown into a shambles. Joan Roberts and Lanky Andrews, who was the cowboy, had ridden away from the Wagon Wheel ranch that afternoon with the idea of watching the sunset from the rim of Howling Coyote Mesa.

This was not the first time they had ridden off alone together. At first Joan thought Lanky's attitude of deference was a pose, but later she decided he was acting quite natural. The discovery delighted her.

Casually she had observed Lanky Andrews without appearing to do so. She registered the fact that he was a good deal more handsome than you noticed at first glance. Nothing about his manner or what he said was affected.

Casually, too, she made inquiries about him and learned, to her astonishment, that he owned a Harvard diploma and a small cattle ranch down on the Mojave.

Her frequent trips into the desert with Lanky, coupled with the knowledge she had acquired gave Joan, so to speak, a new lease on life. Up to now her general outlook was bitter. She trusted no one. She hated people who posed.

Lanky Andrews, without knowing it, gradually changed all that. So Joan prolonged her visit and demanded Lanky's services more and more. She tried to be nice to him, tried to give the impression that she appreciated what he was doing for her.

But Lanky remained the same. He was a good dude wrangler. He was dependable, kind, thoughtful, courteous, but never personal.

That is, he was never personal until the evening they stood on the edge of Howling Coyote Mesa and watched the sun ease down into the desert. Without turning her head Joan said: "It's lovely!" And Lanky Andrews, unexpectedly and without warning, turned to her and said: "That sunset's a washout compared to you." And he kissed her as effectively as Joan had ever been kissed.

NOW LANKY was acting like the men Joan knew and understood. She acted on impulse. She slapped his face. "Why you—" he began—and slapped her face, a resounding crack.

Joan stared at him, mouth open, cheeks white. "How dare you!"

"By the same right you dare to slap me," Lanky said easily.

"You—you—apparently, Mr. Andrews, you don't know who I am."

Lanky Andrews kissed Joan as effectively as she had ever been kissed.

"I'm the third richest girl in the United States!"

"So what? I'm the best dude wrangler anywhere around. I'm just as human as you. Just because you've got more dough than I doesn't give you any more rights or make me any less feeling."

"Why, you—"

"Well, what? Can't you think of anything to say? Of course you can't. Time you learned a few things."

This time Joan didn't say anything. She merely gaped at him. She was conscious of only one thought, one feeling, one fear: He might not kiss her again.

But he did, and the newspapers had to be satisfied with the result. They were never told about the faceslapping episode, but the story of subsequent events was plenty to make lovely big black headlines.
